

U.S. ARMY MATERIEL COMMAND EYE ON AMC

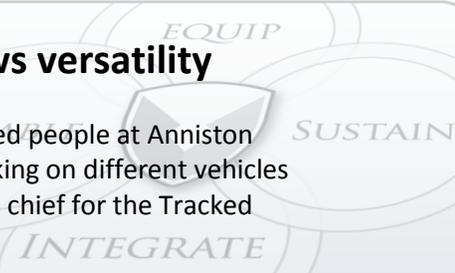

October 28, 2011

Click to Enlarge

Anniston Army Depot's night shift shows versatility

ANNISTON ARMY DEPOT, Ala. -- "We've got the best trained people at Anniston Army Depot because they are constantly moving and working on different vehicles and processes," said David Funderburg, night shift division chief for the Tracked Systems Division.

Click to Enlarge

Foreign military sales support coalition partners

REDSTONE ARSENAL, Ala. -- Typically foreign military sales are defined as a U.S. government to foreign government sale of defense articles, services and training. But for 1206 sales cases, the purchase is funded through Department of Defense appropriated funds.

Related Article

Click to Enlarge

Celebrating the end: Dunwoody, others commemorate ANCDF final chemical demilitarization

ANNISTON ARMY DEPOT, Ala. -- Army Materiel Command's Gen. Ann E. Dunwoody visited Anniston Oct. 19 to celebrate the end of chemical munitions demilitarization operations at the Anniston Chemical Demilitarization Facility and to tour Anniston Army Depot operations.

Related Article

Click to Enlarge

AMC, a Profession of Arms The Army is an American Profession of Arms, a vocation comprised of experts certified in the ethical application of land combat power, serving under civilian authority, entrusted to defend the Constitution and the rights and the interest of the American people. It is Soldiers, it is civilians.

Click to Enlarge

Army takes STEM recruiting on the road ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md. -- About 500 Maryland students will soon get the first look at the U.S. Army's new STEM effort to recruit civilian scientists and engineers.

U.S. ARMY MATERIEL COMMAND EYE ON AMC

October 28, 2011

NEWS AROUND THE ARMY

- French join U.S. vets to mark 90th anniversary for Tomb of Unknowns
- Conference of American Armies kicks off in Peru
- Panetta discusses North Korea, cuts with troops

NEWS AROUND THE DOD

- U.S., South Korean Defense Chiefs Cite Strategic Progress
- Libyan Fighters to Receive U.S. Medical Treatment
- U.S., South Korea Maintain Peninsula Security

Firepower: Side by side PICATINNY ARSENAL, N.J. -- While the M4 may be the standard issue rifle for U.S. Soldiers, the enemy fire our military receives from insurgents comes from foreign small arms, such as the Soviet AK47.

RRAD gears up for Heroes Hunt RED RIVER, Texas -- For the second year, Red River Army Depot's Land Management Branch, along with the help of several sponsors, will host the Heroes Hunt for wounded warriors.

MCAAP exceeds continuous improvement goal MCALESTER, Okla. -- Thanks to people like Dennis Altfillisch who saved the government $2,709,426 through a Value Engineering (VE) suggestion, McAlester Army Ammunition Plant has exceeded their FY11 continuous improvement goal of $3.47 million.

ADMC employees work safely, earn DA award ANNISTON ARMY DEPOT, Ala. -- ANNISTON ARMY DEPOT, Ala. -- As of press time Wednesday night, the Anniston Defense Munitions Center had 1,093 days without a lost time accident -- nearly three years.

ACC Small business workshop provides EXPRESS training REDSTONE ARSENAL, Ala. -- Local small business owners got the opportunity to learn more about doing business with the Army through the Expedited Professional and Engineering Support Services system during a workshop here.

Video! AMC's BOLD IDEA CAMPAIGN: OCT 31-DEC 30

REDSTONE Arsenal, Ala. -- The U.S. Army Materiel Command will soon solicit ideas from the AMC workforce to become more cost efficient and effective. The program will officially kick off Monday, October 31, 2011. Join us in reshaping our future.